

The Iraq War began because Saddam Hussein was not treating his people well. This started the economic depression when George Walker Bush wanted to go to war and spend American dollars for arms and weaponry.

I think this is one of the reasons why Barack Obama was elected president of the United States of America. Barack Obama wants to stop the war. He is going to give a huge economic boost pack of money for all companies also, he has some money to give for the making of many hybrid vehicles.

Some plans are what the Republicans want, while some are what the Democrats want, Barack Obama's own Political group.

President Barack Obama gained people's trust and gave hope to the United States of America. I think this President will pull us out of the war and the recession.

President Barack Obama is the first African-American President in the complete history of the United States of America. He was admired from a young age by many people. He went to Harvard in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Later, Barack Obama married Michelle. They had their first daughter when he was 37.

I believe President Barack Obama will change the United States of America like great John F. Kennedy, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Abraham Lincoln and Dr. Martin Luther King. He will help the world by recovering the U.S.
